COMMUNICATIONS

Monthly E-News transitions to weekly "What's Up in Wake Forest"

For nearly 15 years the Wake Forest Communications Department produced the monthly online newsletter "E-News." Recently, due to the ever-increasing array of programs and events the Town offers, we transitioned to a weekly e-newsletter called "What's Up in Wake Forest."

By providing useful information weekly instead of monthly, we intend to keep E-News and E-Notifier subscribers even more up to date on all that's happening in Wake Forest. Plus, by providing a comprehensive rundown of Wake Forest news and information in a single email each Friday, we are able to limit the number of E-Alerts and other email we direct to your inbox.

You can sign up to receive our weekly e-newsletter just as you do our other E-Notifier options by visiting wakeforestnc.gov/enotifier.

POLICE DEPARTMENT

Best ways to outsmart "porch pirates"

The Wake Forest Police Department is warning homeowners to be vigilant when they have parcels delivered to their homes. Police say thieves often follow courier trucks and immediately steal items after they are dropped off. The police department offers these tips:

- Require a package signature. If your signature is required, couriers will not leave packages on your doorstep unattended.
- Deliver packages to your workplace.
- Sign up for delivery service notifications. You will get an alert when a package is set to be delivered allowing you to make arrangements for someone to be home when it will arrive.
- Subscribe to a secure mailbox service. Sign up for a PO Box at the post office or at the UPS Store. You can have all packages delivered to these locations.
- Be a good neighbor. Be alert and report all crime and suspicious activity. If you see a package being stolen from a neighbor's home, call 911 and report a "crime in progress." In addition, if you see someone acting suspicious or a vehicle that might be casing the neighborhood, call police immediately.

TRANSPORTATION

Wake Forest Loop now offers expanded service

The Wake Forest Loop (WFL), a weekday, fare-free bus for residents traveling within Wake Forest and a portion of Wakefield, now offers an early/late extension along North Main Street and a mid-day extension into Heritage.

The early/late and mid-day extensions are just the beginning of several exciting changes planned for the WFL. Currently, the WFL is comprised of one bus running the hour-long route Monday-Friday in a clockwise direction.

Beginning in early 2020, the Town will introduce Saturday service and a reverse route which will add a second bus running in the opposite direction. As a result, the WFL will operate six days a week and area residents will be able to travel both clockwise and counter-clockwise along the existing route cutting wait times in half from 60 to 30 minutes. The local service will remain free of charge.

For complete information about Wake Forest Bus Service, including route schedules, maps, brochures and holiday schedules, visit wakeforestnc.gov and search "bus service".

PUBLIC WORKS

Bi-monthly loose leaf collection is underway

The Town of Wake Forest's annual loose leaf collection program is underway and will continue through early March 2020. Residents are reminded that this year the Town will provide bi-monthly loose leaf collection service which calls for crews to service each town street twice each month.

When preparing leaves for collections, residents are urged to adhere to the following guidelines:

- Rake leaves into piles behind the curb, so they do not interfere with traffic or drainage.
- Do not mix sticks, rocks, pine cones, limbs or other debris with loose leaves. The Town's vacuum equipment is only designed to pick up loose leaves. Your cooperation will help prevent mechanical breakdowns and collection delays.
- Place limbs and brush behind the curb in a pile separate from leaves.
- Keep brush away from other objects such as, fences, walls, water meters, utility poles, mailboxes, fire hydrants and cars.
- Keep debris free of animal waste. Animal waste should be bagged and placed in rollout garbage carts.

Wake Forest residents can track the progress of leaf collection crews by calling the Leaf Collection Hotline at 919-435-9582. The hotline is updated each weekday morning by 8 a.m. with information concerning where crews will be working that day.

Simone Smith & Tilda Caudle are 2019 Good Neighbors of the Year

The Wake Forest Human Relations Council (HRC) is pleased to announce Simone Smith and Tilda Caudle as the 2019 youth and adult Good Neighbors of the Year. Mayor Vivian Jones made the announcements during the Good Neighbor Day celebration in September.

Simone was nominated by her mother, Loraine, who emphasized her "servant heart." "Last year (Simone) served over 115 volunteer hours helping youth to improve their academics," wrote Loraine. "She did it for free realizing the importance of education. She also did that while maintaining her studies. She serves at Hope House, Inc., in the Chick-fil-A Leadership Academy and several one-day service opportunities."

Eight residents nominated Tilda Caudle in the adult category noting her "servant leadership."

"Tilda Caudle is the epitome of a servant leader," wrote Enjanet Joseph. "She has dedicated and led countless efforts to enhance the quality of life for the residents within the Northeast End community and be a bridge and connector for individuals to resources, organizations and partners. She possesses a humble and loving spirit and is well known, trusted and loved throughout the Northeast End community and Town of Wake Forest. She is well deserving of this prestigious award."
